

Schéma End User License Agreement

Last updated: May 16, 2020

By downloading, installing or using scenic.tools Schéma (<http://schema.scenic.tools> , below referred to as Schéma), you're agreeing to the following terms. If you have any questions regarding this EULA, please contact me via: hi@domj.net

1. License Grant

Talking about the ownership of software is weird because of the fact that it can so easily be duplicated. Therefore it is commonly agreed that the creator of a software is its owner, who grants users a license to use the software.

So in the present case of Schéma, I am the creator and owner grant you a limited, revocable, non-exclusive license to use it, if - and only if - you agree to all points of this very agreement.

2. Commercial Use

If you're using Schéma for purposes which are intended for, or directed toward, commercial advantage or private monetary compensation, such usage needs to be covered by a commercial Schéma license. Schéma is distributed worldwide exclusively by:

Dominik Jančík
Na Brázdě 1321
14100 Prague, Czech republic
To obtain a license, contact via email at hi@domj.net

Schéma can run standalone. But if you're running Schéma inside of vvvv, please make sure to comply with the vvvv licensing terms as well. Please refer to the following link for further information: <https://vvvv.org/licensing>

3. Restrictions on Use

As I grant you a license to use Schéma, I can also tell you what you must not do with it! Let's see...

- You must not reverse engineer, decompile or disassemble the Schéma executable and libraries
- You must not modify and/or remove any copyright notices or labels on the software
- You must not distribute or modify the software or parts of it, including graphics or text without written consent from us

4. Ownership and Copyright

Three things here:

- Ownership rights and intellectual property rights in Schéma remain with me or the relevant third-party owners and you have no rights in or to Schéma other than the right to use it in accordance with the terms of this EULA

- Related rights in the content accessed through Schéma is the property of the applicable content owner and may be protected by applicable law. This license gives you no rights to such content
- You acknowledge and agree that, in case a third party claims that Schéma or your possession or use of Schéma violates any third party's intellectual property rights, I cannot be held responsible for that

5. Disclaimer of Warranties

Schéma is provided "as is", without warranty of any kind, express or implied, including but not limited to the warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose and non infringement. In no event shall the authors or copyright holders be liable for any claim, damages or other liability, whether in an action of contract, tort or otherwise, arising from, out of or in connection with the software or the use or other dealings in the software.

Why must this sound so harsh? Well, basically this is about the fact that as software developers we're standing on the shoulders of giants and even if Schéma itself was perfect, we cannot guarantee that those giants don't have their issues. And so whenever something goes wrong, while to you it may seem as Schéma's fault, it could actually be one of the giants. And defending against such claims is something we simply cannot afford.

6. Termination of Licensing

This one is simple: In case you fail to comply to this EULA, the license we grant you in 1) is revoked and you have to immediately delete all copies of Schéma and stop using it.

7. Amendments to this Agreement

We reserve the right to change the terms of this agreement at any time. Should there be notable changes, they will be announced on our website. If you fail to receive notification of a change, this does not make those changes invalid.

8. Governing Law and Jurisdiction

In the unlikely event of any dispute between you and us regarding this EULA and/or your use of Schéma, you agree that only the laws of Czech republic will apply.

That was it.

Thanks for reading and respecting the above.

Have fun stacking Blocks!

Based on the vvvv gamma EULA, modified with permission.